As We See It

WELL?
GOOD MUSIC
THE JUNIOR PROM
THE SCIENTIFIC ONES

By JEAN COPLESTONE

Well, we certainly found out what a representative number of the student thought of the learned ones in the recent survey. The heartening thing about it all is, that the response to the questionnaire was by far the largest any ever conducted before!

Several choice quotations were put on the questionnaires, but the best in our humble opinion was this one (describing the unfavored prof)—"Is a complete moron, creeping his sickly way towards a Franciscan existence." Ouch! And the same writer said of his favored prof "Because professionally aware of the uselessness of modern educational methods".

Some of the professors at State were in complete harmony with the questionnaire and thought it was a splendid idea. One even went so far as to advocate a grading system on the pedagogues. If it was done at Yale, you know, three times a year they grade their professors. We fear that the bell curve might be a little upset—if these results be true! Those that object to such an examination must have a guilty conscience.

It was interesting also to note that with one exception, the characteristics most disliked were those that were a direct reference on the students. Things that pertained mostly to them.

It is seldom that one has a chance to hear such fine music as will be presented in the Frederic Burk tomorrow night and free of charge, too. Good music is something that every one needs and enjoys. We feel that an evening of really fine music does give a new slant to "this troubled existence".

Clever fellows have been out for a week on the Prom. Ticket sales having been going rather well, but there has been some criticism of the place the dance is being held. Another thought circulated given to the War Memorial. It has a splendid floor and it is a place that the dance can be staged. No interference from outsiders. What's more centrally located.

How about Dr. Gettell speak here today. It is a treat and those interested in political science should have the opportunity to hear him.

Three thousand dollars is no small amount to be spent on equipment for the science building. Shall we say a few things, let's preserve them? The science department will say amen at least a decent workshop to carry on their work.

Peace Rally Gets Official Sanction

Following the precedent set last year this school Anti-War rally to be held tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the Gym will feature a program of Student speakers. This announcement was made last night at the Executive Board meeting which confirmed the approval of President Alexander C. Roberts on the event. Classes will be dismissed for the meeting.

Late Bulletins

Petitions for prospective Golden Gater and Franciscan editors and business managers will be available beginning otmorrow in the Publications office.

They are due Monday, April 27, at 4 o'clock. Petitioners are requested to submit petitions to the secretary of the Board of Publications on or before that time.

"Reels" Postponed

The showing of "Campus Reels," originally scheduled for presentation yesterday at noon, has been postponed until Friday noon. The "Reels" will be shown in Room 209 and the admission price will be five cents.

An important meeting of the Low Freshman class will be held in Room 118 at 12:15 today.

Survey Shows Student's Idea Of Professors

Majority Say State's Faculty Need Course on Presentation of Lectures Plus Humor

Students of State are of one mind, the recent questionnaire on the faculty indicated, and that is that the learned ones need a course, or several of them, on the art of presenting lectures more interestingly. About 95 per cent of the students checked that item as needed.

The next characteristic that the students feel is most necessary to the teacher is a sense of humor, and the returns plainly showed that there was a lack of it among the State faculty.

Other important characteristics listed in order of returns that need improvement were: gives unfair assignments, shows favoritism and grades unfairly (a close race between these three) and behaves temperamentally. The lowest number checked on the unfavorable side was "is ill-mannered." Reports also show that very few of the teachers have mean dispositions. About 40 per cent of the students feel that their instructors have an aloof manner also.

Must Not Be Fashion Plates

It was surprising to note that more students felt the teachers presented the subject uninteresting than did give an interesting lecture. It was equally encouraging to see that more students felt the greatest percentage had a sense of humor. It was also unusual to note that students as a general whole do not mind egotism in a professor; judging from the number of checks this answer received, they rather like it. Another quality that seems unimportant is the matter of dressing neatly.

The other characteristics mentioned as favorable were: has a sense of humor, gives fair assignments and shows patience in explanations.

Interesting Notations

Many notes were sent on the questionnaires, such as, "Shall students be enslaved by grades instead of learning?" Other things that were shown in the classroom were dry lectures, sarcasm, unfair examinations. Another student had the criticism of the teacher announcing at the beginning of the term that it was impossible to cover all the material and then proceeding to cover it in one semester. And many of the students felt that an age limit should be put on the teachers. Some of the questionnaires contained names of the teachers instead of the check mark, and it was remarkable to note that the names and the characteristics were entirely consistent.

Lest We Forget, Buy an Annual

With the copy being set up by the Printing Corporation, one of the largest printing houses in San Francisco, the 1936 Franciscan is "at press." By having the copy in the hands of the printer by last Friday guaranteed the presentation of the book not later than May 15, according to Ruth Walker, editor.

The American Engraving Company which has done the work for many years for the Stanford Quad and Blue and Gold of California, has been working on the cuts for the past several weeks.

"Nothing should prevent an early issuance of the book this year," Miss Walker stated. "The staff has done much hard work and shown splendid co-operation, the engravers and printers are the best obtainable, and it appears to be smooth running for the book."

After the book is issued, the cost will be advanced from $1 to $1.25, according to Robert Barry, business manager. "The increase in price seems to be only fair," Barry explained, "for those who have supported us by an advance subscription deserve some expression of appreciation of their loyalty." Subscriptions are still available in the publications office, Room 114, College Hall.

Ready Next Term

In a very short time now, the new science building, equipped with the latest heating, lighting, ventilating and sanitary systems which the scientific world has evolved, will be completed. If no impassable hindrance will stand in the way, the ultra-modern structure will be completed by next September, according to President Roberts.

When finished, the new building will look like Anderson Hall inside and outside. In it there will be two physics laboratories and two chemistry laboratories, with workrooms, offices, storage rooms, and instrument rooms. The furniture and the equipment to be installed will be all brand new.

The state of California will spend a total amount of seventy-seven thousand dollars for the erection of the building alone, and an additional ten thousand dollars for the new equipment and furniture. All other expenses are furnished by the national government through the Works Progress Administration.

State Downs Jaysee, 72-50

Ironman Scores in Six Events to Come Through With Twenty-five Points; Three First Places

By ED SMITH

Continuing the "defeat the J. C." movement, the Gater tracksters decisively trounced the San Francisco Junior College Rams to the tune of 72 to 50 Saturday, at Kezar, with Ru Stone walking off with the high point honors, garnering 25 digits.

Stone Comes Through

Though he was rated at 23 points in this meet, Stone proved the scribes were all wrong when he cast 25 "ballots" toward State's victory. Ru had a great chance of gaining 30 points, but an ex-graduate of State who was officiating committed the error of not calling him to the shot put pit, not only robbing him of a chance for first place but to set an all-time record for high point honors at State. Stone earned three firsts, in the javelin, pole vault, broad jump, and a tie for first with teammate Darryl Hopkins in the high jump; two seconds in the high hurdles and the discus.

Feature Many Hot Spots

There were plenty of hot spots, including three races, the shot put, and the discus. First was the 100-yard dash. Jack Murphy, whom the Gater squad has missed most of this season, was a welcome sight as he came down

New Plans Form In Union Idea

Plans for State's Student Union were being directed into new channels as the committee working on the idea began the formation of the Union as an integral part of the social organization of the college.

Under the set-up planned by the committee in a meeting held Friday, student opinion will be sought through the co-operation of the two major organizations of the campus, the A. W. S. and the A. M. S., and through other important campus clubs and through individual petitions. In connection with this move will be the sanctioning of a 50-cent increase in tuition fees, this sum to be devoted to the union fund exclusively.

Proposals under consideration include a board of governors and a proposed method of finance. The board of governors would be composed of prominent members of the college student administration and representatives of the Federated Clubs and the Golden Gater. They would be accountable to the executive board. In turn, the minor positions and the posts of student managers of the house would be accountable to the board of governors.

Realizing that funds for the immediate purchase of a building were limited, the committee decided that the wisest course would be to allow the proposed fund, if passed, to accumulate over a period of a year. At that time, according to reports, there would be sufficient funds available to make an outright purchase of a house.

Time Extended For Candidate Petition Filing

Ed Cockrum and Cy Atkinson Head Scanty Assortment of Candidates for Offices

Petitions of the various candidates for Student Body offices were checked and approved by the Executive Board at its meeting last night. Noticeable was the lack of aspirants for four of the positions. The offices of Yell Leader, Vice-president, Athletic Manager, and Director of the Board of Publications had one candidate each and the presidential position was able to boast of but two. Ed Cockrum and Cy Atkinson are the running opponents for the job. To partially remedy the situation the time allowed for the filing of petitions has been extended to Wednesday noon. It is anticipated that more names will be added to the list by this means.

Ed Cockrum, one of the presidential candidates, is at present Student Body treasurer and has been active in many diverse fields during his career at State. Cy Atkinson, his opponent, is now president of the Associated Men and can show also a long record of achievement. The full detailed records of both men and the candidates running for the other offices will be published in full in Friday's Gater.

The lone candidate for vice-president is Ruth Paulson. It is not definitely known yet whether or not opposition will appear after the final petition is filed.

Athletic manager is another office with a single aspirant in the person of George Mirande. Mirande is a veteran in athletics at State and has promoted many such events as intramural touch tackle football tournaments and similar affairs.

Secretaryship of the Student Body is in a reverse position compared to that of last year when Grace Whithy, present secretary, was her own opponent. Three strong candidates are in the race in the persons of Dawn Wilson, Barbara Elliott, Marion Irwin. All three have excellent activity records and have experience fitting them for the position.

For treasurer there are two candidates, both well known. For a time it was not known whether Darryl Hopkins, present Low Sophomore president, would be declared eligible to run, but an interpretation by the board solved the problem in his favor. He will be opposed by Hermann Boettcher, whose record for activity is known to many Staters.

Bud Decker, current president of the High Sophomore class, will be unopposed for Yell Duke it is believed. Clarice Dechent, running for Student Director of Publications, also appears to have no opponent for the place. She is a veteran journalist and was also a candidate for the office last year.

Candidates for the Publications Board itself have all been approved by the Executive Board and are as follows: Bob Barry, Rose Marie Haas, Marie Hirsch, Howard Demeke, Billy Rose, W. J. J. Smith, and Jack Werchick.

Prom Rates As Stellar Event

Spring decorations, novel bids, soft lights and gay music will be the attractions of the Junior Prom next Saturday evening at the War Memorial auditorium. The committee in charge has put in many hours of work in preparation to make the prom the most successful dance of the season.

It will be a semi-formal affair and the no-corsage rule will be strictly enforced by those in charge at the door. The dance will be held in the main hall of the building, the ballroom being a spacious floor that will accommodate 400 couples with ease. Gary Evers' orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Evers' orchestra having provided the music for the Soph Strut held at the Devonshire Country Club a year ago and also played at a dance given at the Palace several years ago. It has been said that his music has that certain something that makes dance bands a success.

Bids will be sold every day in College Hall and the price of the dance is $1.25. It has also been announced that bids may be secured at the door on Saturday evening.

Miss Blanch Tovey is general chairman of the affair and is assisted by Edvina Cahill, chairman of the hotel committee, Rita Johnson and Claire Schumacker. Helena Rowland is in charge of the bids committee, assisted by Betty Lankey and Peggy Cleghorn. Valeska Dougherty is chairman of the orchestra committee, asisted by Hal Delma, Marie Quartaro and Hal Widney.

Music Festival Tomorrow Night

Carolers and String Quartet Inaugurate Third Annual Federation Program in Frederic Burk Auditorium at 8:20 P. M.

By MEYER CAHN

Tomorrow evening the Carolers and College String Quartet will open State's third annual Spring Music Festival. Mary Weaver McCauley, director of the Carolers, will direct her final concert, ending her career at State over a period of twenty-four years. The program will be held in Frederic Burk auditorium at 8:20 o'clock.

The Music Festival is a group of five concerts given by our better performing organizations and represents the culmination of a year's work. This year's programs promise to eclipse those of past years, and consequently tickets for these concerts are already at a premium. A limited supply of tickets have been set aside for the general student body and may be procured by signing up on the Music Federation Bulletin board or by applying to the Music Federation office. Tickets to all of these concerts are free.

Six Groups Presented

The six major groups performing this year are Carolers, directed by Mary Weaver McCauley; College String Quartet, directed by William F. Zech; Madrigal Singers, directed by Miss Eileen L. McCall; A Capella Choir, directed by Roy E. Freeburg, and College Symphony Orchestra, directed by Dr. William E. Knuth.

These concerts will be held on five consecutive Wednesday evenings, beginning April 22 and ending on the evening of May 20. All of the concerts will be held in the Frederic Burk auditorium.

Tomorrow's concert offers unusual interest as both the Carolers and the String Quartet have selected very fine certs will be held in the rederic Burk auditorium.
programs. The Carolers will open the program with a group of songs by American composers, several of which are very modern in nature. "Overtones" by Rasbach and "Clouds" by Charles exhibit the most effective composition by these writers and the unusual facility of the Carolers for interpreting this difficult type of song. Mrs. McCauley readily admits that her organization has labored for many weeks on this program. However, last night's rehearsal convinced the writer that the Carolers' performance will be an artistic one.

Variety Emphasized

In keping with their program emphasizing variety, the Carolers will present in their second group several songs of "Other Lands."

In the operatic group we find the ever popular "Chorale" from Wagner's "Meistersinger," and from Puccini's Madame Butterfly, a choral arrangement of the flower duet sung by Cho-Cho-San and her maid, Suzuki. It occurs in the scene where the battleship Abraham Lincoln steams into the harbor and Cho-Cho San is expecting her husband to return to her after an absence of three years.

The Carolers' program will close with songs of the church, which will include "Ave Maria" by Luzzi and duet and chorus "I Waited for the Lord" from Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise." The latter number will not be new to State music followers, for our whole music group performed the entire "Hymn of Praise" for our last Christmas oratorio.

The accompanist for the Carolers will be Elise Madsen.

Hay Rides Just Ain't the Same

In days gone by when hay rides were popular and automobiles "a passing fancy" old timers recall many a merry moment spent on a hay ride.

But it seems with the advent of the automobile that hay rides just "ain't what they used to be". For example; the ancient horse drawn cart never ran out of gas; it never had tires that went flat and it never had a motor that required nursing.

Quite a few Staters came to realize the value of equine travel at a hay ride held last Friday night when such students as Merle Conant, Gwen Smith, Jean Schermerhorn, Dick Hurst and Ward Taffe were left stranded "somewhere on Divisadero Street". For it seems that the gasoline propulsion they depended upon failed to propel their hay wagon and at an early hour Saturday morning Dick Hurst was still trying to run the bus on vitamin-plus hay.

Limit on Class Heads Debated

Provision in New Charter Causes Comment on Campus; Awards Given to Athletic Department

Proposals to limit the class officers, under the new constitution, were being debated in several quarters of the college as the new charter was being readied for presentation at the student elections to be held on April 29.

Under the charter the class presidents will be that in name. Four presidents will be elected, the election to be held in the spring of each year in coincidence to the general student elections.

Debate on this portion of the constitution is centering around the fact that those students entering the college in the January classes would not be eligible to hold the class offices, or would be forced to give them up after six months in the office. This qualification would hold for th general student body offices, with the president being a senior upon entrance to that office.

One of the major features of the new student government set-up will be the smaller executive council and the creation of an executive committee. When the new charter is approved the council will be composed of eleven members instead of the eighteen that now makes up the present executive board.

The executive committee will have special powers delegated to it and will be composed of the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Probably one of the major changes of the whole set-up will be the provision that will center control of athletic awards in the athletic department. Under the existing setup the final jurisdiction of the awards is in the hands of the executive board. Several incidents have come up that have created some dissension as to the decisions made in the disposition of some cases.

The charter will be published in a forthcoming issue of the Golden Gater.

Education Class Has Guest Speaker

Mrs. Sue Fratis, principal of the Fruitvale Elementary School in Oakland was the guest speaker in the Eductiaon 186 class, Professional Adjustment of the Teacher, last week.

Mrs. Fratis spoke to the graduating students on the "Relation of the Principal and the Teacher." She has been in the Oakland city schools for many years and has helped many of State's cadet teachers.

Miss Clara Crumpton and Dean Clarence DuFour are the instructors of the Education 186 class.

Teaching Announcement

All those seeking second and third direct teaching assignments are requested to sign up for an appointment on the appointment sheet posted outside of the office of Dr. Sherman L. Brown. Dr. Brown requests that these students fulfill this request immediately.

Orange Ticket Takes on Nominal Value as Beanery Desires Pay

Just a little orange ticket, but oh! how important it is, or so say the managers of the Co-Op food store. It seems that so many of the students have a forgettery instead of a memory and seem to forget just where they put the food ticket that the powers that be feel they should charge the full amount of 60 cents for those lost in the shuffle.

In fact, there is quite a sizeable sign up in the local beanery to the effect that a "fine will be imposed for loss of the ticket." Just in case you can't read—try to get out of the Co-Op portals without paying the four bits and a thin dime.

The reason for all this reform—just a simple matter of checking up on those who seem to lose their ticket after eating the lunch counter out of house and home. Business is business, and so we see reform going on down there.

Test Shows State's Faculty Lacks Drive

In a school where the specialization is made to instruct young men and young women in the ideals of the teaching profession, it seems a shame that so much criticism can be made against the faculty. They are, somewhat, the models that we must go by and if the example is poorly set, what can be the result?

The outstanding number that unanimously agreed that the subject matter was not well presented is appalling. The trouble (they always say there is a reason)—we feel is that the years of teaching have become a habit and the trouble to prepare and present an interesting lecture is just too much bother. It is much easier to take a book in hand and stand before the class and expound Brother Smith's theory than it is to use a little resourcefulness and delve into their storeroom of knowledge an dget outside material to bring to class. Of course this cannot apply to all courses, language, science, and mathematics all are entirely factual, but even they can be made a little lighter by historical material brought in now and then.

It has been the attitude of some that they are above reproach—we are not children to accept them as the perfect specimens. They find plenty wrong with the way the students present their work, isn't it right that this should be turned around? We all hear constructive criticism is good for us and it should hold true in their case!

Of course these are all generalizations and are not directed at any one person. State College is very fortunate in having some mighty fine professors. They are inspirational, learned people that give their lives to the instructing of students. They take time with their lectures, patience in their explanations, a sense of humor when things don't exactly click and an interest in those they teach. Any problem brought before them is not too small to be solved completely. Off hats to you, we admire and respect you and may heaven decree that you are not too few in number!

Cleanliness or Not That's the Question

Cleanliness is Godliness goes the ancient proverb.

Surely a virtue as important as cleanliness should be practiced in education's highest seat of learning, namely college. The student Co-Op, employing for the most part students and operated for the students themselves, has become the gathering place for many of State's men and women who find it a temporary substitute for a student union.

Granting that the school's "caf" has become so popular socially, why can't cleanliness be practiced a bit where of all places on the campus it is most needed?

So for, only a minute part of the student body has voiced any protest over the abhorrent situation. The majority of the students evidently have become so accustomed to enter the Co-Op and have to kick soft drink containers and discarded food out of the way in order to get to a booth that they have thought that trash goes with food.

But civilization has advanced to a stage where eating has become a gastronomical joy intermingled with social mixing.

One solution for the problem is to hire more help and have the Co-Op managed in true restaurant style or else give up the idea of a student operated Co-Op as a bad stunt. The student Co-op has been neglected either through mere forgetfulness or mismanagement and has sunk to a dangerously low level.

Let's sacrifice a little on operating expenses and eat our meals in a manner more appropriate to modern civilized human beings.

. . . Musical Notes . . .

It's spring and there's music in the air and youth turns its thoughts to . . . going to the Spring Music Festival. (How'd you guess?) Forget the daze routine and give yourself a lift by hearing the Carolers and the String Orchestra tomorrow evening in their initial performance for the semester. With this introduction, you will not need to be urged to attend the rest of the performances. Each evening's program will have its own theme in order to best display the work being done in the music department. So spruce up your bib an' straighten your tie an' we'll be seein' you tomorrow night, an' next week, an' next week, an' the week after . . .

On Other Campi

By LESLIE JONES

Prof. Herbert Bolton, of the University of California's History department, believes he has solved the problem of keeping his students from cutting classes. He offers a daily prize for the best limerick summarizing his preceding lecture.

And while we are on the subject of lectures—Dr. Morris Fishbein, authority on health, says that the energy given off by a professor during a lecture is equal to that of one-half peanut. Maybe that's why some of us get so little out of a lecture.

A questionnaire was taken at Pomona Junior College to find out what the "gentlement prefer". It revealed that the men:

Dislike coeds who telephone them.

Vehemently and definitely do not believe in love at first sight.

Admit they would marry a girl for her money.

Would "date" their best friend's girl with a clear conscience.

Hope to die of a broken heart in perference to dying by earthquakes, electric chair, falling down steps or slipping on a banana peel.

IMPRESSIONS

Out of New Orleans by the great Huey Long Bridge, with its maze of curving ramps to segregate traffic. The immense spans rise high above the sluggish waters of the Mississippi River, and take the traveler southwest. On through the low, swampy country, the roads lined with cypress trees and the inevitable gray moss drooping from their branches. Thence along the Jefferson Davis Highway to Texas.

The first major city of the Lone Star State is Beaumont, but the most enterprising is our destination, Houston. Reason for Houston's sudden growth is the ship canal that runs fifty miles inland from the Gulf. Ocean-going ships ply this canal, bringing their goods right into Houston, thus expediting the shitt from liner to railroad. The new canal which brings prosperity to Houston has practically made Galveston a dead city, for Galveston was once the main port of entry.

Houston is a busy place, center of a thriving region with beautiful homes and parks. Its most famous educational institution is Rice Institute, known for its engineering course. During our stay we met some co-eds from the new University of Houston, a municipal institution, now housed, like San Francisco's Junior College, in a high school building. But the girls told us that a new building was in progress and would be ready next year. Colleges in big cities seem to be the step-children of education, so far as facilities are concerned.

STATE SLAMS

By C. ALL

(Editor's Note): Commencing in today's issue "State Slams" will become a regular feature in the Tuesday issue. Its aim is to throw a slam at various men and women students on the campus. We intend to present these digs in such a manner that no one's feelings will be hurt. P. S.: It's very interesting to see ourselves as others see us.

Taking the initial plunge: We wonder why so many of State's studes still have to confine their necking to the halls, benches and, tsh, tsh, even lecture halls. Take the case of Harry McDevitt, the writer has noticed this manly individual on numerous occasions caressing some gorgeously bedecked cute depart right under our nose in the College Hall. Listen, "Mac," we realize that spring is here, but after all——

Now Lee Armstrong and Jim Barrett come into the picture. The story as we get it is that Lee was given the big go-by by a State co-ed who hails from the Delta region. Now, far from being discouraged, Lee started to bestow his amorous affections upon a very well known cutie from across the bay (might be a blonde). Here's where the rub comes. Barrett was playing the same game with above mentioned frau when Armstrong entered life's sweetest drama (the battle for a damsel's hand). Now the battle is on; stand by for future developments.

String Quartet to Play Haydn

Directed by the popular Wiliam F. Zech and led by Edythe Stoner, concert master of State's symphony orchestra, the String Quartet will alternate with the Carolers in tomornow night's program. Haydn's String Quartet N1 28 will be their feature selection and will be followed later in the evening by several smaller but very interesting compositions.

Judging by the applause given the quartet last Thursday by San Jose's A Capella Choir, who just happened by their rehearsal, but who remained for thirty minutes to hear the end of the Haydn quartet, we can expect a finished performance. Incidentally this same string quartet gave a half-hour broadcast along with the Radio Choral Group on but four hours' notice. This happened several weeks ago.

String Quartet Members

Members of the String Quartet are Edythe Stoner, first violin; Carleton Hanson, second violin; Leon Minear, viola; Dorothy Ayling, violincello.

Mary Weaver McCauley, director of the Carolers, has had a long career at State. She began her activities in 1912 and at that time conducted a chorus group of 150 voices composed of all the music majors and minors. She organized the Carolers five years ago.

Prior to coming to State, Mrs. McCauley sang in opera and on the stage.

Tomorrow night's concert will be her farewell appearance as conductor of this group, for Mrs. McCauley has announced that she will retire this Christmas.

Lid Lifters

Dear L. L.:

I can't see any use in all the notices we get in our boxes announcing this and that. There are usually plenty of posters around bringing the event to our notice. If there aren't there should be.

It is just a lot of useless trouble. It helps the Co-Op to get dirty. If they have notices why have posters and if they have posters why have notices.

Thanks for agreeing with me Oxtot.

Dear Lid Lifter:

What are the wages paid to K. P. teachers and Junior High, and if there is a difference in the amount of money, why is there a difference? Please enlighten several of us prospective teachers.

Sports Chatter

By DAVE SCHUTZ

Because of the overwhelming amount of publicity given to the subject the topic of "Why State Should Leave the Far Western Conference" is proving to be the foremost problem in the athletic picture at this college.

The fact that State has never had a winning football team has been the lone reason why it is not one of the members of that circuit at the present time. But this need no longer be an important factor for the simple reason that we are now represented by teams in three sports which are the equal if not superior, to all of the present participants in that league. These three include baseball, basketball and tennis. Besides these, there is track, in which sport State has already proved itself better than Chico State one of the Far Western's strongest links.

Why should we deprive the athletes of these teams the right to try for the league championship simply because the football team does not happen to be of desired strength? Many men who play on the football team are members of other athletic teams and if they take a beating in football they have the chance to come back in another one to make up for prestige.

Decisive victories by the baseball team over such schools as Fresno and San Jose State, and triumphs such as the meetings administered by the basketball team over Fresno State, Chico State and Nevada prove conclusively that this college can more than hold its own with even the best of the Far Western competitors. In fact, State's victory over Fresno in basketball marked them as stronger than any team in the circuit, as Fresno tied for the conference championship.

There is only one solution to the matter. State not only should enter the Western Conference, but they should see to it that there is to be an increase in the spirit around here. Any team that is fighting for a championship will play a lot harder than if they are merely fighting for the fun of it.

Conference berth is a necessity. The sooner we get it the better it will be for the entire institution.

Tennis Tourney In Second Week

Second round matches are slated to be run off this week in the intramural tennis tourney which is now entering its second week here at State. Following are the scheduled matches which will be played on the tennis courts during the lunch hours: Goldstein vs. Collins; Thompson vs. MacBaim vs. Lee; Macabeo vs. Whang vs. Thomas; Medina vs. Snyder, Lindlow vs. Cartwright; Chino vs. Fuentes.

The horseshoe tournament for men will also start this week. An attempt will be made to get all first round matches played by the end of the week.

Both 80A, 80B gym classes will be required to enter a team in the intramural speedball league which got under way yesterday.

Baseball Team Beats Fresno Bulldogs for Third Straight Win

George Powles Pitches Good Game; Soinila Also Stars on Mound

Scoring four runs in the seventh inning on one hit, and then staving off an eighth frame rally by their opponents, the State baseball team managed to eke out its third straight victory over Fresno State at Southside Playground last Friday afternoon. The score was 7 to 6.

Powles Pitches

George Powles, hurling his second game in three days, allowed the Bulldogs nine blows, but kept them well scattered throughout the contest. The Gaters only collected six hits off the chucking of Ollie Soinila, Fresno tosser, but made them count.

The southerners were the first to score. A hit by George Kemble, a sacrifice by Don Crocker, and another single by Charlie Rudolph accounted for their first run in the second inning.

Gaters Tie Score

The Purple and Gold tied the count in the third stanza as Bill Eich got a life on Rudolph's error, was sacrificed to second by George Powles, and came home when Bergazzi, Fresno shortstop, messed up Joe Lee's grounder.

The Gaters forged into the lead in the fifth inning when they countered two more runs. Bogdanoff led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Eich, and scored on Powles double to center. Powles rounded the sacks when De Chaine, Bulldog second sacker, erred on Kenny Wilkes hard hit ball.

Count Again Knotted

Fresno wasted little time in tying the score up again. In their half of the sixth inning a duo of tallies crossed the plate as Walt Byrd singled to left and came home on Kemble's two ply wallop to center field. Kemble also countered Don Cartwell, who had reached first on a fielder's choice.

San Francisco's big rally came in the seventh frame when they reached pay dirt four times. Eich walked to open the inning, Powles attempted to sacrifice, but was safe on Soinila's miscue. After Wilkes and Lee had been put out of the way, Regan hit to Bergazzi who promptly made his second error of the day; both Eich and Powles scoring. Floyd Walter then proceeded to single to center, sending Regan to third and they both scored when De Chaine booted Wood's infield tap.

Purcell Gets Two

Clint Purcell led the Gater hitters with two hits, while Kenny Wilkes played a great fielding game at shortstop. Ollie Soinila hurled a great contest for Fresno, and might have been the winner if he had had better support.

Gaters Drop Spartan Match 5-4, in Finale

Arlington Stars in Last Meet

With matches tied at four all, San Jose State's "racqueteers," Dick Edmonds and Bob Harris, snatched victory from the hands of Harry Post and Meyer Cahn in their doubles match to win 5-4.

Meyer Cahn and Harry Post had the first set 6-4, and the second one supposedly in the bag 5-1, when things began to happen. When it was all over Bob Harris and Dick Edmonds had the second set 7-5. The third and deciding set was an exact replica of the second. State had a 5-1 advantage and San Jose came back to steal the set, the match, and the tournament.

English Wins

Bringing his third undefeated year to a close Ronnie English, the dashing man about town, defeated George Rotholtz 3-6, 6-4, 6-0.

"Long" John Arlington brought his tennis career to a close with a brilliant victory over Winsdor Geary 6-3, 6-3. Then teaming with his doubles partner Lucas Fuentes, defeated Jack Gruber and Hugh Cremer 6-1, 6-3.

Net Year Ends

The match marked the end of State's most successful net year. A seasonal of four wins were chalked up by the Gaters, while they dropped only three, two of the defeats at the hands of San Jose.

Hats off to these gladiators—Ronnie English, Frank Collins, John Arlington, Lucas Fuentes, Meyer Cahn, Joe, Rosen, and Harry Post—they're a great team.

Denver Flash Scores In Relay Decathlon

Another competitor for Stone's place on the United States Olympic Team loomed on the horizon today as Glenn Morris, Denver Athletic Club trackster, rolled up the large total of 7576 points in the decathlon during the Kansas Relays last Saturday.

Morris' mark exceeded Jim Bausches' meet record by nearly two hundred points.

Outstading among Morris' accomplishments wah his :10.6 in the 100 meters, three tenths of a second over the world record.

the stretch in the century to breeze in ahead of Dunne, the colored flash from the Jaysee. In the last 20 yards Dunne made a bid for first, but didn't have the drive.

Stone Drops Highs

The second hot dish on the menu was the high hurdles, in which Southard of the J. C. nosed out Stone. Stone was leading all the way down the stretch, but Southard had begun to make his bid and caught Stone on the top of the last flight of hurdles to lead him to the wire. Although the time was slower than that of Stone's mark of :15.2 of last week, Southard had a bit more of a finish than Stone.

Relay In Close

The third hot spot was the most thrilling of them all. It was the relay race, in which the Gater team had a good 25-yard lead on te J. C. team when the last lap was to be run. Robinson was running anchor man for State, and Warren for the Rams. With the Gater team having a big lead, all seemed hopeless for the J. C.'s chances, but Warren, running a beautiful race, kept on gaining, gaining, and closing up the gap between him and Robinson, but could get no closer than six feet behind Robinson at the finish wire.

Jublonsky Wins

The next on the list of red hots was the battle between the muscle men, Owen Jones, the Gaters' star weight man, and Jublonsky of the Rams at the shot put pit. Jones was leading all the way, but on the last put, Jublonsky pushed the iron pill six inches further than Jones, to win at 41 feet 7 inches.

And last of all was the discus, in which State took a clean sweep. Jones barely threw the platter above Stone's mark of 130 feet 3 inches, beating him with a throw of 131 feet 2 inches.

It Was Town Hall

Yessir! It was town hall for the Purple and Gold tracksters—they had to keep up with the baseball, basketball, and tennis teams in victories over our friendly "hated rivals." The Gater again conquered the Ram, for the Ram was butted all over—and did it hurt!

Mile run—Won by Bertram (J. C.); Kuder (S), second; Shreeve (S), third. Time, 4:39.2.
100-yard dash—Won by Murphy (S); Dunne (J. C.), second; Compas (J. C.), third. Time, 10.3 seconds.
440-yard run—Won by Warren (J. C.); Robinson (S), second; Willey (S), third. Time, 50.2 seconds.
120-yard high hurdles—Won by Southard (J. C.); Stone (S), second; Morrison (S), third. Time, 15.5 seconds.

Grid Practice to Start

Spring football practice will open at State definitely next Monday on the lower field. This was made certain by the announcement of Coach Dan Farmer at last Friday's rally.

Cleats will be issued to all those wishing to try out for the team, but no other football equipment will be used, as practices will be held in regular gym suits.

Battle Between Rivals Takes Place at Funston Powles to Start on Hill

Junior College Squad Set for Revenge in Battle; Both Ball Clubs in Full Strength for Game This Afternoon; Wilgus Hurls for Jaysee

By DAVE SCHUTZ

Hoping to sweep their two game series with San Francisco Junior College this year, the Gater baseball team will enter its contest with the Rams a slight favorite in a battle slated for this afternoon at Funston Playground. Coach Hal Harden has selected his ace hurler, George Powles, for mound duty.

Jaysee Improves

The Purple and Gold will not find the Junior College nine the easy touch that they were in the last fracas which the locals won 24-6. Coach Lee Eisan intends to start his star chucker, Kenny Wilgus, against State today. Wilgus was held out of the last contest, but Eisan is taking no chances on a repition of the last slaughter.

The Red and White has an improved lineup from that which played the Gaters last, in fact, they are now tied for first place in the Junior College Baseball League. Comparative scores give State a slight advantage. Both teams having beaten Menlo J. C. The Hardenmen walked over them 15-0, while the Jaysee was victorious by scores of 9-3 and 7-4.

Beat Marin Too

Among the other impressive victories recently turned in by the Junior College men was an 11-8 triumph over Marin J. C. in the first game of a supposed double header. The second contest ended in a tie.

Strong spot on the Ram squad is the catching position. Frank Anido has been a mainstay behind the plate all season and has constantly been one of the leading hitters. Lou Fex, shortstop, and Gidge McSweeney, center fielder, are other bright spots on Eisan's club. The team shows a well balanced infield, although not quite the equal of the locals, and a strong outfield, which excells in its brilliant fielding.

Other Pitchers

Besides Wilgus, there are other men who may take up the mound duties if necessary. Benny McGuire, who started the last game against the locals, may see plenty of action, while Bob Dumesnil, Gene's brother, and George McGuire may also be used.

At present State is at the top of its game. Frank Regan, who has been out with a wrecked finger, is all okay again, but is finding it difficult to break through a combination which formed while he was out. Harden has moved Kenny Wilkes to shortstop, and has put Floyd Walter on third and this pair along with Joe Lee and George Bogdanoff makes a smooth working combination.

Marcus Hitting

Bob Marcus has moved his batting average up to .357, and is now solidly entrenched in second place. Hal Wood seems to be in a slight batting slump, but is liable to come out of it any time.

Clint Purcell, who loves to bat against the Jaysee, is looking forward to a big day today. Last time he met the Rams he cracked out four for four. George Bogdanoff, who also did all right for himself last time the teams met, is looking forward to the contest to break his short hitless streak.

Catcher Tossup

The battle between Bill Eich and Charlie Iago continues to be a leading feature of the daily practice, and there is still nothing to chose between them. Probably, however, Eich will get the call, as he has been catching Powles regularly of late.

Probably starting lineups follow:

State	pos.	Jaysee
Bogdanoff	1b	McGuire, G.
Lee	2b	Scafani
Walter	3b	Guisti
Wilkes	ss	Fex
Marcus	rf	McGuire, B.
Wood	cf	McSweeney
Purcell	lf	Lucchesi
Eich	c	Anido
Powles	p	Wilgus

Failure to Hit In Pinches Costs Gaters Victory

Inability to hit in the pinches cost State its last baseball game of the season with Fresno State last Saturday at Southside as the southern ball club won out by a score of 9-6. The Gaters won the series, however, three games to one.

Thirteen men were left stranded on the bases by the locals during the nine innings of play. Twice a batter failed to hit with two outs and the bases loaded.

Both Score in First

From the first inning it was apparent that there would be much hitting. Fresno led off with a brace of runs scored on hits by Walt Byrd and Rod Bergazzi and an error by Kenny Wilkes.

The Gaters came back strong in their half of the same frame; Wilkes and Frank Regan singled, Floyd Walter and Bob Marcus walked, and "Spider" Turner brought them in with a timely bingle to left center, this made the score 3-2 favoring the locals at the end of the first inning.

Fresno Ties Score

After neither team had tallied in either the second or third, the Bulldogs came through with a run on a double by Don Crocker and a single by De Chaine. This tied the count, but only temporarily.

In their half of the same stanza, State crossed the plate three times. Wilkes and Walter singled, Wilkes stole third and scored on a fielder's choice. Bob Marcus then came through with a trusty smash over the fence in right field for a home run to score Walter ahead of him. A heavy wind was blowing against him at the time, which makes Bob's hit all the more remarkable. The scoreboard now read San Francisco 6, Fresno 3.

Bulldogs Score Three

The Gaters could not stand the constantly threatening bunch from the south, however, and Fresno tied the score in the fifth when two hits, a walk, and an error gave them three tallies.

San Francisco's scoring for the day was over, but the Bulldogs came through with a run in the seventh on George Kemble's long homer to right field, and two more in the ninth on hits by Cardwell, Byrd, and Kemble, who singled in rapid succession.

Bogdanoff Okay

George Bogdanoff, who did the tossing for the locals, did a good job. Because of the tremendous wind that was blowing, balls that were ordinary outs went for base hits.

Walt Byrd led the batters with three hits. Kemble, also of Fresno, and Marcus and Turner of San Francisco all garnered two bingles apiece.

This was the last of a four game series between the schools this season. Friday, at Southside, State won 7-6, and in two previous contests at Fresno the Purple and Gold was also victorious.

Powles Wins Seven

Only three men are hitting over .300 according to the most recent baseball batting averages, which includes all of the games to date.

Pitching records show that George Powles leads in victories with seven, while George Bogdanoff has five. Gavron, with two victories, and Kenny Wilkes, with one win, have perfect marks.

The team record is fifteen wins and five losses for the season.

Gaters—Jaysee

State's baseball team meets San Francisco Junior College today at Funston. It is the final athletic event of the year between the schools.

Joe Becomes an Amateur de Lux

If this was being written in Healsburg, it would be the story of the local boy who made good. It concerns State's man of many talents, Joe Brigandi, who makes his latest radio appearance tomorrow night on Station KROW at 7:30 o'clock.

Radio amateur de luxe, radio columnist, press agent, and milk salesman, Joe has just about stocked the family larder with prizes he has taken in some twenty-three theater contests and in five radio amateur shows. His list of winnings would make any good market man envious. They include 1 turkey, 25 pounds of macaroni, 6 gallons of olive oil, and 4 cakes for dessert. Besides these prizes, Joe has won a wrist watch valued at $50, 1 radio, 1 suit of clothes, and as an added thought some one hundred and thirty dollars in cash.

To start to picture, the day of this Joe Brigandi is almost as big a task as the activities carried on by this personable young man who has always found time to be around at the rallies and entertainments of State. He generally starts about eight in the morning and finishes when the milkman is just getting out of bed. During that time he manages to write a radio column for a chain of California papers, arranges a few assemblies at schools and colleges, takes charge of the lighting effects at a prominent hotel, dashes off a few reams of publicity for a local orchestra, finds time to play for another orchestra at least one night a week, besides being a printing salesman on the side and garnering all the provisions that amateur contetsts have to offer.

Born in Healdsburg, Joe came to San Francisco about six months ago. His philosophy—wants to eat the white meat of that chicken every day. Says it's feathers one day and chicken the next, at present.

Dr. R. Gettell Speaks at State

Dr. Raymond G. Gettell, famous author and political science professor at the University of California, will speak on current political trends tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Annex B2.

About thirty-six years ago, Dr. Gettell was a college youngster like us. He was ambitious, and since the time of his graduation from college he has taught in more than ten universities throughout the country. He has been professor of social science at the University of California since 1923.

Unlike many professors, Dr. Gettell was not contented with merely giving lectures. He wrote Introduction to Political Science in 1910, Problems in Political Evolution in 1914, History of Political Thought in 1924, History of American Political Thought in 1928, Political Science in 1933, and numerous articles in various periodicals. In 1911 he compiled Readings in Political Science.

"Dr. Gettell's talk will surely prove to be specially interesting due to the current political campaign and the recent Supreme Court decisions," stated Robert Van Houte, president of the Sphinx Club, which is sponsoring the lecture, in an interview.

Labor Day Gets Added Support

One of the largest of campus organizations today combined with the Golden Gater to sponsor the voluntary work day on Roberts Field, when the Associated Men of the college signified their backing of the movement, through President Cy Atkinson.

Date for the first voluntary work day has been set for May 2. Under present plans, at least thirty to fifty men will be recruited by the two organizations to contribute a day's labor to the Roberts project.

"I think the voluntary labor day idea is a good one," Atkinson declared, "and I think it will receive wholehearted support from the men's organization. Undoubtedly it will be one of the greatest things accomplished by the college, if those important parts of the field are constructed with the voluntary assistance of the men of the college."

Children Enjoy Excursions

Cadet teachers are finding that their students enjoy nothing better than a visit to some spot off the campus. As a result two more excursions were participated in during the past week—one to the Crystal Palace fish market, and the second to the Borden's ice cream plant.

Twelve of the children of Room 105, which is the high third grade, spent a part of last Thursday by inspecting the Crystal Palace fish market. Accompanying the children were Miss Pfeifer, Miss Poulsen and Miss Vilicich.

Borden's ice cream plant excursion proved to be outstandingly enjoyed by the children of K. P. 2, undoubtedly because Borden's employees were very generous in giving samples of their chief product. This trip, also made last Thursday, was led by Misses Mary Margaret Scobey, A. Masini, R. Teicheira, and E. Gibbs.

Dr. Ascher Writes for Pacific Historical Review

"Lincoln's Administration and the New Almaden Scandal" is the title of an interesting article written by Leonard Ascher of State College appearing in the March issue of the Pacific Historical Review.

While writing a thesis on the New Almaden Mine, a valuable quicksilver mine located near San Jose, Dr. Ascher discovered the facts of this scandal. Later, when he was in the east, he did additional research work on this subject.

The article concerns a law suit between the United States government and the State of California for the possession of the New Almaden Mine. At one stage of the proceedings, Lincoln's signature to a writ was obtained by unscrupulous methods. This document ordered the seizure of the mine, using troops if necessary. Such a furore resulted that Lincoln almost lost support in California and was forced to recall the writ.

The Pacific Historical Review is in the library and any student interested would be able to read the entire article.
